BORDEN CRITICIZED

LIVELY DEBATE IN THE HOUSE

Mulock Roundly Scores Borden's Alternative Policy.

Ottawa, August 27th. (Special to the Bulletin.) The House of Commons today devoted considerable time to a debate on the alternative proposal. He showed that a great expenditure in reaching Winnipeg without opening up any new country. To purchase the north shore section of the Canadian Pacific railway would cost $38,000,000. It would relieve the Canadian Pacific railway of keeping up and operating an unprofitable piece of road. Then constructing the line from Winnipeg to Duluth, they would have another main line by Duluth to the St. Lawrence Canadian lake and grain trade to Duluth. The government proposal is necessary to unite eastern and western Canada. Clancy and Bell spoke for the Opposition and German and Mulock for the government.

SLUCE BOXES ROBBED

Thieves Have Been Operating in the Atlin Gold Fields.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 26.—A special from Caribou Crossing says that many members of sluice boxes have been committed during the past three days. At Spruce Creek, Atlin, the "biggest" robbery was that from the sluice boxes of the Atlin Mining Company, of which J. D. Featherstonhaugh is manager.

OUR COAL INDUSTRY

RAPID STRIDES IN ITS DEVELOPMENT

An Interesting Visit to Mays & Wylie's Coal Mine.

One of the most interesting points in the vicinity of Edmonton is Mays & Wylie's coal mine on river lot 42, on the north bank of the Saskatchewan, about six miles from Edmonton. This property has long been well known as the "Bush" mine, the recent owners being O. H. Bush & Son. There is here an excellent seam of coal eight feet in thickness. The mouth of the mine runs on a flat a few hundred yards from the river. The tunnel is driven hundreds of feet into the bank and at regular distances branch shafts lead out from both sides. At the end of these shafts are the rooms where the miners are actually at work getting out the coal. The shafts are all supported by timbers and as the rooms are widened the timbers are extended to support the roof of the coal mine. A couple of flickering candles give light to the miners at work. Work is carried on at the ends of the numerous shafts simultaneously. Tracks are laid from the rooms where the miners are at work to the entrance of the mine and the coal carried out on cars. These coal cars hold a half a ton of coal each. The coal is carried out on these cars and put in a flat a few hundred yards from the river. The coal may be loaded on to wagons or else put in a large bin from which it can later be taken. Another track leads from the mouth of the mine to the bank of the river. Here a trestle work, terminated by a chute, enables the coal to be loaded on to scows on the river. These scows could then be taken down the stream to supply coal demands at Fort Pitt or other places. However, the output of this mine is used entirely in Edmonton. The coal is taken up the river to the town by steamer. A number of wagons are kept constantly employed carrying coal to fill the small platform at the mouth of the mine where the coal is taken out. The daily output of the mine could be increased to one hundred tons within ten days. Edmonton coal belongs to the same series as the Medicine Hat coal. The seams drift easterly to Battleford and northwesterly to Edmonton. The formation belongs to the Redoubt series, a series of coal seams in which all beds of lignite coal exist. The coal seams at Edmonton is to a large extent, according to surface indications, on the prairie the coal seams lie horizontally, while in the broken country the nature of the surface is a reliable indication of the lay of the coal seams. This fact is of great importance to a person in opening a mine in this locality. From all appearances this district must have had a tropical climate when the coal beds were laid down, for the present vegetation could not produce the thickness of the existing seams of coal. The conditions then, must have been something similar to what is now in progress in India. As coal has been formed in seams it is evident that the vegetation had again been overtopped by a fresh water lake. The seams of coal at Edmonton form an excellent field of operation for commercial purposes. In fact the seams are ideal for working operations and afford great opportunities for large outputs. The amount of readily accessible and easily worked coal at Edmonton is inexhaustible. There is practically no limit to the possible output and the product will always furnish a first-class coal for domestic purposes. Private residences, stores, factories and all manufacturing establishments will find this coal an admirable one for local use. There seems to be no difference in the quality of the coal in the seams of the same depth in this district. According to numerous tests lately made, the amount of carbon in the Edmonton coal varies from 52 to 54 per cent. The difference between the various coals in this vicinity is largely in the amount of moisture present, some coal having about twelve per cent more than others. The coal is of an exceptionally fine character for local use or for shipping. There is no reason why Edmonton coal cannot profitably be shipped to supply the great demand in Assiniboia town. However, the coal industry at Edmonton is still in comparative infancy and there is no doubt in the world but that it will play a most important part in the industrial growth of Edmonton.

THE IDEAL MODERN EXHIBITION.

Under the above heading, the Farmer's Advocate in a recent issue says: "The history of exhibitions on this continent and in Europe has shown them to be powerful factors in the education of the people and the development of the country's industrial life. The beneficial influence which they have exerted in encouraging the production of high-class live stock and agricultural products, and the invention and manufacture of labor-saving machinery can never be fully estimated. Year by year the leading shows of the country have been gradually improving in attendance, extent of exhibits and financial receipts. While this has been true, some, however, have retrograded to some extent in general quality of exhibits and in influence for good, by pandering to a certain class who revel only in exciting attractions and circus performances. A policy that caters very largely to the sentimental element in humanity may be successful for a time, but inevitably it must come to ruin. As an example, the Pan-American, emphasized attractions, fireworks and the midway, and was a failure, while Glasgow emphasized the industrial arts and was a success."

"What Western Canada needs at the present time is real industrial exhibitions, shows that will exemplify and encourage the chief industries of the country, and serve as an advertisement of what the land can produce. The association is frequently made that without the horse race, the side-show, and similar features it is impossible to get the crowd, and it is not feasible that in several cases the year these are being more largely advertised than other departments of the fair. This is a great mistake. Exhibitions, when established upon a sound basis and with a proper ideal, have more than paid their way when properly managed. All that is required is the confidence of the people, including exhibitors, and they have always shown a disposition to support shows calculated to promote the best interests of the country in developing its resources."

"The real function of the ideal modern exhibition is to educate and enlighten, rather than merely entertain or afford enjoyment, which can have no lasting effect upon the country's progress. Such an exhibition is one in which the managers and directors are imbued with motives true and lofty, and calls for the highest exertion of their constructive energies. The finances must be liberal, and the money judiciously expended. It must also have a properly classified prize list, one in which the greatest financial encouragement is given to the industry or production deserving of the most support, and which will result in the most good to the country. A criticism has been offered that in several instances this year more money was being given for the horse racing than for any other department. Where an exhibition assumes the name of industrial or purports to be industrial in the character of its exhibits, a classification admitting of such comparison would be not only inconsistent, but an evidence that the management were not aiming at the realization of the highest and best ideal. Horse racing has its place, but that should not be the most prominent one at a show designated as industrial, nor should it be carried on at a time when attention is likely to be drawn from the judging of live stock of agricultural products. In some cases, where it has been found expedient to have racing events in connection with agricultural shows, the last day has been set apart for that purpose alone. This system has proved most satisfactory, and it is undoubtedly the only proper method, but it must be remembered, nevertheless, that the ideal exhibition has no special events, and in those where there is a demand for them a separate time should be set aside when nothing else is claiming public attention. A good substitute, and one that is deserving of support, are competitions among hunters or hurdle jumpers, and the various carriage classes, shown before the grandstand."

"In a well managed show the rules as laid down in the prize list will be enforced. Too often this is not the case and results in dissatisfaction to those who aim to come near the mark. The judges, too, will be chosen because of their ability to give satisfaction. Many local shows in the past have perished upon this rock. In too many cases the selection of men to grant comparatively unimportant matter and persons have been chosen to fill these important positions more because of their popularity than because of their ability. As a consequence, the best has not always received the highest honors, and the producers learned to stay away from the show, being the final and principal loser. If an exhibition bore the fact that they cannot pay the expense of having competent and conscientious men occupy the capacity of a judge, it is worse for them to consider what duty they owe to the community, and why such an institution as the exhibition of which they are in charge should exist."

"Every effort should be made to have exhibits placed in the best position for inspection. They are there to be seen, and the people who come to learn should have a chance to gratify their desire. In live stock, the numbering of the stalls, with a corresponding number in a neatly printed catalogue, giving the age and breeding of each animal, is a most useful and constructive system of assisting the visitor to gain information. In the show-ring, too, the method which is being adopted this year at Winnipeg of having each attendant carry on his breast and back a card bearing the catalogue number, age and weight of the animal under his charge, is worthy of commendation. This plan will enable the onlooker to form an intelligent idea of what is going on in the ring, and will at least tend toward eliciting the interest of the uninitiated in live stock lore. A crowded judging barn or pavilion is another feature of the ideal show, but it involves an expenditure that is not justifiable unless where the available finances are strong or when ample accommodation has been provided in the way of stock barns and floor-room for the exhibition of manufactures. A good substitute for this, however, is ample seating capacity provided by the edge of the open ring."

"Among the principle features of the ideal show, practical demonstrations in live stock judging should occupy a prominent place. Contests in judging live stock, and in buttermaking and various industrial processes, are also interesting and attractive, and when properly conducted do much to create a desire for information that is useful and overcome the demand for light or frivolous attractions."

A Short Talk About Clothing!

In Men's Clothing as well as all other lines of merchandise there are different grades and values. The clothing of twenty years ago cannot be compared with that which is made today, the style, finish and general make up is much better in every respect and prices are more moderate.

The ready-made suit of today is as highly finished as any Tailor can turn out and perhaps better.

But when we say higher we don't mean price. The clothing we handle is the best obtainable in the Canadian market.

We have seven different maker's goods in our stock, but when it comes to the finish and wearing qualities we recommend our "PICCADILLY" suits in every case.

Our Stout Men's Suits should be of interest to every man that is in the stout order.

CONSERVATIVES SUPPORT THE C. P. R.

Mr. John Hawkes, the veteran Conservative editor of the Canadiff, Amherst, Gazette, in a letter to the Free Press strongly supports the Dominion government's Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Bill. He says:

"The inhabitants of the Territories would be justified in welcoming the Grand Trunk if for one reason only. That reason, which stands out, to my mind in bold and convincing relief, is that not one of the burdens or abuses which the Territories have complained of in the C. P. R. charter are to be found in the Grand Trunk proposal."

"If the Territories were asked to contribute of their resources to the Grand Trunk, then might we well pause and ask ourselves whether we were not paying too great a price for the road. But the Territories do not give an acre. There is no cash bonus, and the Territories do not give a dollar. We shall have the Grand Trunk with equal lines and branch lines opening up the country north and south of it; we shall have the evil spell of monopoly and one-road supremacy broken; absolutely without any start cost to ourselves. With another outlet to the two oceans, and the control of the rates in the hands of the government, should we not be even as the sea that travels, if we troubled ourselves very much about the inter-colonial, or hybridization, or any such secondary matters? Truly we should."

"If there were any exemption from taxes we might have cause to kick vigorously. But there is no tax exemption. The Grand Trunk will come in as a great taxpayer. It will contribute its share to the expense of schools and roads and bridges instead of being a legalized pirate, preying on the labor of the people, it will be a help to school districts, local improvement districts, and to towns and villages. This seems to me an important consideration; and who in the Territories would like to assume the responsibility of keeping out this company which will help develop the country as a taxpayer as well as a common carrier."

"If the Grand Trunk were receiving a cash bonus, then we in the Territories might complain, and say we had given enough of our lands to the C. P. R. and other railroads without paying a toll of cash to the Grand Trunk. But as before said, the Territories pay not one dollar."

"If the Grand Trunk were coming into the Territories with power to impose whatever rates it chose on the people of the Territories then I would indeed be the first to call a halt, till the people had protection. But the Grand Trunk will not be like the C. P. R. It will not have a free hand and cloudy charter under which it can demand whatever tale of brick it chooses to levy. There will be government control of rates."

"If the Grand Trunk were coming in with a monopoly of any kind we might well consider whether we had not just cause to kick with suspicion on its account. But it has no monopoly. No dissidence agitation will ever be necessary."

"The Grand Trunk Pacific will, in my humble opinion be a boon to Canada at large, and to no part of Canada more than to the Territories. As an old resident of the Territories, I well know of the needs and needs of the Territories."

aging event that has ever crossed the horizon of the prairie country, and if I might venture one word of advice to my fellow residents in the Territories it is that they study the matter on its merits and refuse to allow any more question of party to influence them when the development, and to a large extent the whole future, of the Territories are in the balance.

"For if we do not get this road, what else is there in sight that will do one the same much for us as we may reasonably expect from the new trunk road?"

CLOVER BAR
The Epworth League of the Methodist church at Clover Bar gave a very successful lawn social at the church on Tuesday. The old school had been placed at the rear of the church and fitted up as a meeting place for the league and the object of the social was to provide funds for seating the building.

The league at Clover Bar, though scarcely a year old is a very active one and Rev. R. E. Finley, the pastor of the church, claims that it is the banner league of Northern Alberta.

Clover Bar possessed probably the finest rural school building in Alberta. Miss Campbell, of Strathcona, is the teacher.

The male portion of the Clover Bar settlement is to meet on Thursday evening to discuss the question of securing a recreation ground for the young people of the community.

—The Calgary city council has prepared a by-law formulating a plan for numbering the streets. Both Calgary papers condemn their efforts in the most definite manner, the Alberta as follows: "The numbering system which the city council adopted at its last meeting is without doubt the most awkward ever invented by man. It is not entirely devoid of merit, very few things made are so carefully devised of everything desirable, but the disadvantages which accompany the system which the city has hit upon make it absolutely unworkable," etc., etc.

—W. G. Trethewey, of Montreal, who is in Edmonton this week, says there are great increases being made in Canadian Pacific rolling stock at present. They are building shops to employ 7,000 men. Eighty coaches will be built and stocked at once. The engine department will be increased in the same proportion. Last year the road saw an increase of twenty per cent in coaches and ten per cent in engines. The company now have 1,300 engines. Mr. Trethewey, who seems to know considerable about the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's intentions, says that the C. P. R. will certainly be in Edmonton at a very early date.

EXTENSION OF MARKETS FOR AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS.

For a number of years the department of agriculture has paid particular attention to the development of our export trade in agricultural products. During the South African war the department undertook to fill a number of very large orders from the war office, and as a result, flour, oats, meat, jam, etc., to the value of over $8,000,000 were purchased in Canada for the maintenance of the army in the field. This work was carried on under the direct supervision of Professor Robertson, commissioner of agriculture and dairying, but at the beginning of the present year, it was decided to create a distinct extension of markets division and to place at the head of it Mr. W. W. Moore, who was in South Africa during the war in 1900, and who has been intimately connected with all the efforts made to increase Canadian trade with that country. It need scarcely be said that Mr. Moore will always be found ready to afford equities any information in his power regarding the markets for Canadian agricultural products.

During the past few weeks considerable correspondence has reached the markets division from Great Britain, with special reference to fruit, pulp, particularly raspberry. The fruit crop in the United Kingdom and on the continent is very poor, and consequently there is a considerable demand for foreign, or rather colonial, fruit pulp. The market is now "a bit of a supply," and as new Australian will not arrive before March next, an excellent opportunity is offered for Canadian exporters, if they have the goods to fill orders. Unfortunately, it appears that the Canadian raspberry crop was also short this season. The farmers have, however, been placed in possession of all the information at Mr. Moore's disposal, and considerable business has already resulted. All the pulp available will doubtless be disposed of at once at good prices.

In view of the short fruit crop there is likely to be a good demand in Britain for cooling and cider making apples. The department has received advice from the Canadian High Commissioner in London to the effect that one firm would take 5,000 tons of each of the above sorts. Mr. Moore is now in communication with the leading fruit shippers to ascertain whether they can fill the order. The possibility of shipping cider-apples is being investigated. A trade of this sort would afford facilities for selling to advantage the immense quantities of cull apples which now go to waste in this country.

Recent letters received at the department indicate that on account of drought the grain crops in the Transvaal will be short this season, and that in consequence there is likely to be a good demand for Canadian food products in the sister colony.
